WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A Severe Surgical Operation. It is Endured without taking Ether. Subject, Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y.

(From the Correspondence of the Kingston, N. Y., Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help.

He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dollar a bottle. Your druggist has it.

FELLOWS' HYPOPHOSPHITES.

NEURALGIA.

It has been ascertained that the most inveterate cases of neuralgia are cured by Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. Not only is the principal disease eradicated, but the patient is made vigorous and strong: the stomach, the blood, the skin become healthy, and he obtains a new lease of enjoyable life.

The only satisfactory treatment of neuralgia is by strengthening the nervous system. A person with strong nerves never suffers from this disease.

The virtues of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites are such that other remedies are seldom required.

The demand for Hypophosphite and other Phosphorus preparations at the present day, is largely owing to the good effects and success following the introduction of this article in the United States.

IMPORTANT.

Should the invalid have any difficulty in procuring the Compound Syrup in his vicinity, let him not be put off with any other remedy, because this article has not its equal in the diseases for which it is recommended.

NOTE.—Be suspicious of persons who recommend any other article as "just as good." The highest class medical men in every large city, where it is known, recommend it.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

A lad about sixteen years old, named Prudent Carson, residing in the Barker Mill district, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of robbing the United States mails. Wednesday he confessed. According to his story, one day last January Carson picked up a postoffice key on the floor of Lewiston postoffice. He secretly tried the boxes till he found a lock which the key fitted. He opened the box, abstracted several letters and opened them. Several time afterwards he repeated the performance, and in one letter he found a dollar. Carson also called for letters from certain people's boxes, which he pointed out, and the clerk, supposing he was sent for the mail, delivered to him the contents of the boxes. He took the letters off and opened them, and in one letter he found three dollars. This is the extent of his robbing, according to his own statement.

A valuable four-years old colt, owned by Auger Bros., of Lewiston, was kicked in a fore-leg, by a vicious horse, about ten weeks ago. A severe injury was inflicted, but it was thought the horse would recover, and he was placed in a Lewiston horse-doctor's keeping. The leg has steadily grown worse, and the colt has been a great sufferer, in spite of every treatment. The leg withered, and the other fore-leg was sprung, from the colt's resting on it so much. Friday, the owners gave orders to have the colt killed, as there is no hope of saving him. The colt was valued at $200.

Mr. T. D. Libby, of Lewiston, has rented two floors in Roak Block, Auburn, and will commence the manufacture of overalls, on a large scale, having his headquarters in Roak Block, and employing large numbers of women at their homes in all parts of the county in stitching. The overall business is becoming an important industry in Lewiston and Auburn. There are four or five firms which carry on the business extensively, and fill orders for their goods from many leading wholesale houses in New England.

Knox.

The annual meeting of the Knox & Lincoln Railroad Company was held in Rockland, Thursday. The amount of stock represented was large, but the representation of the stockholders was small in number. Hon. T. W. Hyde, of Bath, was chosen Chairman, and Edmund Wilson, of Thomaston, Secretary. The board of Directors was re-elected without change and as follows: John T. Berry and Francis Cobb, Rockland; Edmund Wilson, Thomaston; Edwin O. Clark, Waldboro; D. W. Chapman, Damariscotta; Edwin Flye, Newcastle; Henry Ingalls, Wiscasset; John G. Richardson and Geo. A. Preble, Bath.

Last Saturday George Clark, a young man, of Long Cove, was drowned by the upsetting of a boat. The boat struck on a rock and capsized, and both Clark and his wife, who was with him, were thrown into the water, he being drowned; but owing to the clothing of his wife, which bore her up, she was carried to the shore, and thus escaped the sad fate of her husband. The accident happened in the vicinity of Clark's Island.

CONCERNING APPLES.

The Boston market for apples has been principally supplied this year from New England, notably from New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts. In fact, for the past three years the quantity of Western and New York apples received in this market has been steadily diminishing. This is due to many causes. Farmers in New Hampshire and Maine, especially, are giving more attention to their apple orchards, raising larger quantities of superior fruit. Again, many newly-set orchards are coming into bearing, some of which produce their fruit on what is known as the off year, so that the apple supply is more even now than formerly. In years of great abundance like that of 1880, native apples are so cheap here that there is no profit in freighting the fruit from the New York orchards except in the case of such fancy apples like "Spy," "Spits," and "Gill," for which western New York is so famous. The standard and favorite apples here, especially at this season of the year, are the Baldwin and the Roxbury and Golden Russet. R. I. Greenings do well up to the last of January and then are hard to keep up. Northern Spy is a favorite, commanding high prices, but shrinks heavily, now and hence is unprofitable to jobbers retailers. Hubbardston Nonsuch as an early apple and for sale during the holiday season has no equal. Tolman Sweets fetch good prices and are in good condition even at this late date.

The quantity of apples exported from Boston to English markets the past few months is something immense, although shippers have not made much money in the business owing to bad condition of the fruit on arrival. Large lots have also been shipped from New York city. In New York a barrel of apples contains ten pecks, while in New England and Michigan the flour-barrel size is used, containing eleven to twelve pecks. At the near by New England orchards about $1 per barrel was paid last fall for well selected fruit, the empty barrels costing the farmers an average of twenty-five cents each. Railroad freights from New Hampshire and Massachusetts stations to Boston averaged fifteen cents per barrel. Apples stored here by dealers last fall seem to be in better condition and command better prices than lots now coming in from the country. Apples raised in Maine, Nova Scotia and New Hampshire keep better than those raised in Massachusetts and the southern part of New England. Western New York apples have good keeping qualities, far superior in that respect to Western fruit.

Our New Republican City Government.

The election yesterday was one of the quietest for years, and on the Republican side the confidence of being able to carry the city caused an unusual lack of effort. The Democratic Fusionists were quite lively, however, and in their strongholds, Wards 1 and 2, made strenuous efforts to swamp the city. In spite of all these exertions and every species of dickering and manipulating in favor of Laughton, the Republicans elected their candidate for Mayor by a majority decisive, though small, and have made a clean sweep in control of the City Government, electing four out of seven Aldermen and thirteen of the twenty-one Councilmen, Mr. Fletcher beating one of the Fusion candidates in Ward 7.

While we trust our Republicans will not be so careless and risky again, we can congratulate them upon the satisfactory result, which gives us an excellent Mayor, at the head of a staunch Republican administration. This all the more gratifying because the sole issue raised by the opposition was the Commercial's open and defiant rallying of the rumshops and the slums to grasp control of the community. They came startlingly near it, but that only adds to their rage and to the delight of good citizens that the attempt failed.

THE ASSASSINATION OF THE CZAR.

The Nihilist assassins have at last struck home and Alexander II, the Czar of All the Russias, has fallen a victim to the "White Terror" that has dogged his footsteps and repeatedly attempted his destruction. The first sensation produced upon the minds of the American people by the intelligence of the startling crime is one of horror at the brutal murder, and in reading the details of the assassination and the scenes at the death-bed of the chief of the Russian Government, it is impossible to avoid recalling the assassination of our own Chief Magistrate, Abraham Lincoln, who had received so much encouragement throughout the great rebellion from the cordial friendliness of the great Empire of Russia as expressed by the ruler who has just met with an even more tragic and terrible death. Whatever of sympathy the American people have felt for the hardships and wrongs of the Russian populace is chilled with horror at the resort to assassination in its most fiendish form.

Alexander II, Nicolaievitch, was born April 29th, 1818, the son of the Czar Nicholas and Alexandra Feodorovna, a sister of the present Emperor William of Germany. Alexander in 1841 married Maria Alexandrovna, daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse Cassel. His majority was declared May 8th, 1834, and from the age of 18 he attended all the sittings of the Ministry with his father, at whose death he ascended the throne May 2d, 1855. For a year Alexander continued the Crimean war, and upon overtures of mediation a conference was held at Paris and a treaty concluded there between the hostile powers in March, 1856. In September of that year Alexander was solemnly crowned at Moscow and since then he has been constantly engaged in liberalizing the Government. He greatly modified the military direction of affairs, freed public instruction from military discipline, relaxed the censorship of the press, prohibited espionage and punished official corruption. He stimulated commercial enterprise, encouraged intercourse with other nations, granted amnesty to political offenders and recalled exiles from Siberia.

His greatest progressive measure, however, was the emancipation of the serfs, which he had conceived in his early youth. The decree was issued March 3d, 1861, and carried out within the next two years. At this time his reformatory movements were seriously checked by the Polish insurrection in 1863, which was finally crushed early in 1864 and punished by the most rigorous measures. In 1865 Alexander rejected the demand of the old Moscow nobility for a representative government.

On the 16th of April 1866, almost precisely a year after President Lincoln's assassination, the first attempt upon the life of the Czar was made by Dimitri Karakozoff, but it was frustrated by the interposition of a peasant, Komisaroff, who was raised to the nobility as a reward. Again at the Paris exhibition of 1867 another unsuccessful attempt was made by a Pole named Baresowski.

The Russo-Turkish war of 1877 resulting in the capture of Plevna and the famous treaty of Berlin, is fresh in the public mind. Meantime the Nihilist conspiracies had assumed threatening shape, and proportions, and plots against the Emperor's life were constantly discovered, until finally a portion of the Winter Palace was blown up, killing a number of persons but barely missing the life of the Czar, who was finally so harrassed by these terrors that he invested Gen. Melikoff with practically dictatorial powers. Under the new conditions the Czar was about perfecting a great advance by establishing a parliamentary government, when he was boldly assassinated in the streets of St. Petersburg.

The Czarina died about a year ago, and the marriage of the Princess Dolgourowski by the Czar was very much opposed by his family. The successor to the Imperial throne, Alexander Alexandrovitch, was born March 10, 1845 and in 1866 married the Princess Dagmar, of Denmark. An elder brother, Nicholas, died in 1855, and his younger brother Alexis, will be remembered by his visit to this country in 1871-2. The new Czar is 36 years of age.

WHAT WE WANT.

The Boston Post and several other Democratic papers whose conductors were expecting a share of "spoils" if Hancock had been chosen, have hastened to suggest that the editor of this journal and a stalwart contemporary named can probably have diplomatic office in a hot climate. It is funny that these papers should have found out that we want something from this Administration, but they have made a mistake as to the Department that can gratify our desire. We are not hankering for anything in the diplomatic line, but we make our urgent appeal directly as follows:

To Postmaster-General James.—Please give us a mail that will deliver New York Sunday morning papers in Bangor before Tuesday morning.

THE OPINIONS OF THE COURT.

REPORT OF THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE OF THE LEGISLATURE UPON GOV. PLAISTED'S OBJECTION TO THE CONSTITUTION.

[Presented in Senate, March 12.]

The Committee on the Judiciary to which was referred so much of the Governor's address as relates to the Courts, and the constitutional provision for requiring the opinion of the Court on certain occasions, have had the same under consideration and ask leave to report as follows:

The Governor in his address makes two declarations, that have seemed to the Committee to require consideration and report. The Committee understand the Governor to declare in effect, that the constitutional provision in question, in his opinion, is wrong in principle and dangerous in practice; and to further declare that the opinions thus obtained from the Court, have no force as decisions, but are only to be taken for what they are worth as opinions, and to be followed or disregarded at will by the Executive or Legislature.

The Committee are unable to assent to either of these propositions.

The provision in question, is section 3, article 6, of the Constitution, as follows:

They, (the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court) shall be obliged to "give their opinion upon important questions of law, and upon solemn occasions when required by the Governor, Council, Senate, or House of Representatives." Long before the adoption of the constitution the word "opinion" when used in reference to law or courts had acquired in England and America, a distinct technical meaning. The word must here be used in that sense, in the above section of the constitution. This rule of interpretation is universal, applicable to constitutions, as well as statutes and contracts. This anciently settled meaning of the word "opinion" through centuries of legal literature, makes it nearly if not quite synonymous with the word "decision." It is the exposition of the decision. Webster's Dictionary gives the following legal definition of the word "opinion;" "in law, the formal decision of a judge, umpire, councilor or other party officially called upon to consider and decide upon a dispute or difficulty."

It seems improbable that the people in inserting that provision in the fundamental law, in the very organic law of the State's existence, intended the opinion thus formally asked, upon important questions and solemn occasions, should have no more force than the opinion of a neighbor, or the advice of a friend to be adopted if agreeable, or rejected if disagreeable. There would seem to be no occasion for a constitutional provision to enable either department to obtain such opinions or advice from such person as each might have confidence in or from the Attorney General. If the formal opinion of the judges, when formally asked, was to have no more force than the opinion of any lawyer, there could be no good reason why they should be constitutionally commanded to give it. There are able and honest lawyers at the Bar as well as on the Bench.

It is not the opinion of the persons who chance to be on the Bench at the time, that is contemplated; it is the opinion of the Justices, as Justices. It is not neighborly advice nor individual opinion that is called for by the constitution. "They shall be obliged to give their opinion" is the language. It is "opinion," not "opinions." It is the sum of their judgments; the result of not personal, but official deliberation and action. It is not the voices of several respectable gentlemen and good lawyers. It is the voice of the Judiciary, a co-equal branch of the government; and charged with the duty of interpreting the laws; and speaking authoritatively by virtue and command of that same constitution by virtue and command of which the Executive and Legislature speak.

This is no violation of the principle of the equality of the three departments, all official acts of the Executive; or of the Legislature, done by virtue and command of the constitution, are to be respected and obeyed. The official acts of the Judiciary, done by virtue and command of the constitution are entitled to equal respect, if the equal dignity and authority of the three departments are to be preserved.

It was not the purpose, nor has it been the effect of this provision to permit any interference by the Court in matters of administration or legislation; but rather to enable a learned and honored Court to point out the path of constitutional duty, and power, to the department asking its aid. It was to secure harmony of interpretation as to constitutional law and rights, and prevent unseemly conflicts between the Executive and Legislature, the Senate and House, or the Governor and Council. It was to prevent wrongs, instead of leaving them to be committed, and then redressed. By means of this lamp set by the founders of our commonwealth, the Executive and the Legislature can see the bounds of their power and duty as fixed by the people, and avoid encroachment on the rights of each other, or the rights of the people.

It has served its purpose well. It came to us from the Mother State, in whose constitution it has stood for a century. All through that century, in both States, are instances where some department was in doubt, not as to expediency, but as to constitutional right, and asked for light from the constitutional interpreters of the law. When that light has been received, Governors, Legislatures, Courts and people have moved peacefully and prosperously on in the roads thus made plain.

Conflicts of authority and consequent shocks to the commonwealth, have under this constitution been happily avoided in both States, until that sad instance in our own history, when an Executive arrogated to itself, the judicial power of declaring to be unconstitutional laws passed solely to give effect to the will of the people, and then undertook to disobey those laws and defy that will. The instant failure of that attempt, and the peaceful issue of that conflict illustrate the wisdom of our fathers in providing for a speedy solution of all such questions of authority.

While amendments have been made or suggested to many other parts of the constitutions of the two States of Maine and Massachusetts, this section has stood unassailed, without suggestion of amendment, until that made in the address of the present Governor. This long stability, amidst change,—this long acquiescence,—this not infrequent exercise, through four generations of freemen, attest its value, and the high regard in which it is held by the people. The people have never asked its repeal, nor have they ever refused, to give it full effect.

The people expect that each officer is anxious to perform his constitutional and legal duty. They realize that conflicts of opinion may arise among officers as to the limits and extent of that duty. They have provided an authoritative interpreter of that duty. They have provided for a speedy interpretation before any wrong is done. They surely expect all their officers, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, to heed that interpretation "to the end that this may be a government of laws and not of men."

The committee therefore report legislation inexpedient.

L. A. EMERY, D. N. MORTLAND, GEO. D. BISBEE,	On the part of the Senate.
A. A. STROUT, O. G. HALL, EPHRAIM FLINT, L. R. KING,	On the part of the House.

I concur with the Committee in their conclusion of law, and believe legislation in the premises inexpedient.

J. B. HUTCHINSON.

MEMORANDUM.—John C. Talbot and M. N. McKusick, of the House Committee were absent at the time of the consideration of this report.

OHIO WELL REPRESENTED.

[From the Columbus, Ohio, State Journal.]

The notion that Ohio has been "slighted" in the make-up of the Cabinet is intensely silly. Very few Ohio people will lose sleep because the State is not represented in the Cabinet, and least of all the two men whose names were prominently mentioned in connection with such a position. The man who will preside at the Cabinet board is a model Ohio man. That should be sufficient to gratify our State pride, and is sufficient for ninety-nine out of one hundred of our people.

NEW MAGAZINES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for April, besides being a very beautiful Number, offers its readers an unusual variety of entertaining reading matter.

The Number opens with a descriptive article, by W. H. Rideing, on The Green Mountains in Sugar-Time, with characteristic illustrations by McCutcheon. Arthur Gilman, the architect, contributes a beautiful and instructive illustrated article on Salisbury Cathedral. Indian Education at Hampton and Carlisle is the subject of a very interesting paper by Helen W. Ludlow, one of the Hampton teachers, with fifteen illustrations. Italian Life in New York, by Charlotte Adams, furnishes Mr. Rogers with a number of picturesque subjects for his pencil. Alexander F. Oakey's paper on Art Embroidery is full of valuable suggestions on a subject of general interest, and is illustrated with some excellent designs. Earnest Ingersoll contributes an article on Milwaukee, illustrated with seventeen beautiful engravings. S. H. M. Byers, United States Consul at Zurich, in My Farm in Switzerland (illustrated,) conveys some very useful hints to our farmers as to the economy of agriculture.

The two serial novels—Anne, by Constance Fenimore Woolson, and A Laodicean—are continued, the former illustrated by Reinhart, and the latter by Du Maurier. Sherwood Bonner contributes a strong story, Two Storms. W. H. Beard, under the title of An Artist's Reminiscences, tells a touching story of his boyhood, which he also illustrates with a charming picture. Another side of life insurance, contrasting with that given in an article on the subject in the January HARPER, is presented by the Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr. Poultney Bigelow under the title of Young Man, Go West, describes the Close colony in Iowa, and shows what results are possible for farming and stock-raising in that section. A lighter paper, of a humorous character, entitled Darwinian Divers ons, is contributed by F. H. Underwood. J. T. Trowbridge, in his poem, The Indian Camp, presents a striking picture of the American Indian of to-day. Other poems are contributed by Walt Whitman, Paul H. Hayne, and William Gibson. The Editorial Departments are filled with timely, instructive, and entertaining matter.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.—Our regular Washington despatches announce among the nominations sent to the Senate on Monday that of Hon. Albert A. Burleigh, of Houlton, to be Collector of Customs for the District of Aroostook, which will be promptly confirmed. It is an excellent appointment and will give great satisfaction to the Republicans and the people generally in Aroostook County. Mr. Burleigh is the eldest son of Hon. Parker P. Burleigh, of Linneus, and has himself for some years been prominent in the public affairs of the County. He has been four times elected County Commissioner and is now serving his twelfth and last year in that board. He is an earnest, zealous Republican, of high standing as a citizen—and commanding the respect and esteem of all. His popularity in the County was evidenced by the remarkable number of petitions and letters in his behalf from all sections, embracing the names of a majority of the Republicans of Aroostook who endorsed his candidacy. Mr. Burleigh is a man of ability, of the strictest integrity, and will fill the office with credit to the Government and to the friends who have favored his appointment.

The Boston Herald sings the dulcet spider song anent appointments to office in the South. It hopes that "rampant Republicanism" will not be "made the sole test of merit," but that the offices may be "filled by men of character and standing in their communities, irrespective of party affiliations, whenever that is necessary." The Herald hopes against reason. The offices in the South must and will be filled by men in hearty sympathy with the President's inaugural. Those who, having failed to "shoot the Government to death" have sought to "starve it to death" by frauds on the ballot, will be given back seats.—Concord Monitor.

Mr. Laughton's political strength seems to lie principally in Ward 1 and 2. In the former they counted 290 majority for him, and in the latter 126. In Ward 1 when the votes were counted a package of 40 or 50 Laughton ballots was found upon the table firmly stuck together just as they came from the cutter of the printing office. That fraudulent package was rejected, but how many similar ones helped to swell that 290 we cannot know.

The Ex-Queen Isabella, at a recent fancy ball in Paris, was "a prodigiously fine royal-looking bird indeed, by virtue of her mien and gorgeous feathers. The plumage may thus be technically described: a salmon-colored brocade dress festooned with pearls, and a corsage and train of satin, bright red, and blended with pearls. The diamond crown was matched with a necklace, armlets, and other resplendent jewels."

The fear that the controversy in Ward 6 might cause the election of a Fusion Alderman proved unfounded, as a full Republican board was chosen. We hope our friends in that Ward will seek to heal their differences and prepare to give the common enemy a sound thrashing at the next election.

Every Man, Whether He Be Rich, "well to do," or a wage-earner, owes it to those dependent upon him, and to society, to insure his life for an amount in proportion to his means. Riches take wings, prosperity changes to adversity, and human life falls when least anticipated—the former in an enormous percentage in the history of the rich; the latter, earlier or later, with unfailing certainty. Life insurance is now reduced to an almost exact science, and its protection is now within the reach and means of all classes. H. N. FAIRBANKS, General Agent Conn. Mutual Life Ins. Co. mc10 snlw

Whig and Courier.

TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1881.

Legislative Proceedings.

[SPECIAL TO WHIG AND COURIER.]

Senate.

AUGUSTA, March 14.

Senator Merrland was elected President pro tem.

The bill relating to certain lands in Walgrass was committed to the Committee on State Lands and Roads.

The Senate insisted on its former vote passing the resolve in favor of the town of Kingsbury to be engrossed, and appointed a committee of conference. The same action was taken on the resolve in favor of Eugene Michaud; also on bill relating to petitions to the Legislature.

Senator Walker introduced an order providing that there be printed for the use of the Senate 500 copies of the Report of the Judiciary Committee upon the Governor's message, also the same number of the majority report of the Joint Select Committee on the State of the Commonwealth. Senator Clarke moved to amend the same so as to provide for the same number of the minority report of the latter. Amended so as to exclude the Governor's message, adopted.

Senator Bisbee presented a bill explanatory of the cider clause of the last winter. Ordered printed.

A bill was presented authorizing the city of Rockland to retire bonds under its present indebtedness. Ordered printed.

Bills were presented to incorporate the Rockland Granite Bank and the American Bank.

The bill relating to Congressional vacancies was amended and passed to be engrossed.

Passed to be engrossed—Act providing for an additional session of the County Commissioners in Oxford county; act to incorporate the Cushnoc Manufacturing Co. of Augusta; act relating to levy of execution on real estate; act relating to the criminal jurisdiction of the Superior Court for the County of Kennebec; act to abolish the December term of the S. J. Court in Oxford county; act to amend chap. 58, sec. 10, R. S., relating to agricultural societies.

Bank Charters Asked for.

AUGUSTA, March 14. A charter is asked for the Rockland Granite bank with a capital of $200,000. The corporators named are Francis Cobb, J. R. Bodwell, John S. Case, Moses Webster, E. H. Laury, N. W. Wright, Geo. N. Brainard and E. P. Webster.

A charter is also asked for the American bank, Hallowell, with a capital of $100,000. The corporators named are P. F. Sanborn, Wm. Wilson, J. R. Bodwell, John Graves, Samuel Currier, B. F. Warner and A. D. Knight.

Congressional Vacancies.

The bill relating to Congressional vacancies was amended so as to provide that the Governor and Council shall receive certified copies of the records of any town in case the return from such town is lost or is not received by the Secretary of State. Also by striking out the last clause which provides that the act shall not take effect when approved by the Governor.

Bill for the Promotion of Medical Science.

The following is the bill for the promotion of medical science:

Section 1. Whoever willfully and knowingly shall have in his possession, for anatomical purposes, the body or any part thereof, of any person dying within this State, unless the same shall be obtained in the manner provided by section two of chapter thirteen of the revised statutes, or in the manner provided by this act, shall be punished by imprisonment of not more than five years, or by fine not exceeding three thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. If any person, a resident of this State, requests or consents, during his life, that his body may be delivered to a regular physician or surgeon, for the advancement of anatomical science after his death, it may be used for that purpose, unless some kindred or family connection makes objection.

Sec. 3. The body of any person dying in this State, which shall not be claimed, reasonable notice being given for burial by the family or next of kin of such person, shall be subject to the use of the medical school of Maine for anatomical purposes, as hereinafter provided; and if at any time said school shall receive a greater number of bodies than it needs for the instruction of its students, it shall be authorized to deliver the excess to any regular physician or surgeon for the same purpose in this State.

Sec. 4. Persons having the care of such bodies shall forthwith notify the municipal officers of the town in which such bodies are, and upon the reception of such notice, the municipal officers of such town shall immediately notify, by mail or otherwise, the officers of the medical school of Maine, and such notice shall state the age and sex of the deceased, and the cause of death if known, and on request of the officers of said school, if made within two days after receiving such notice, said municipal officers shall deliver such bodies to such officers, or to any regular physician or surgeon by them designated to receive the same. But before receiving any such body, said medical school, physician or surgeon shall give bond to the Treasurer of such town as provided in section two of chapter thirteen of the revised statutes. Any person who shall knowingly violate the provisions of this section, shall forfeit the sum of thirty dollars, to be recovered by an action of debt, one-half to the use of the prosecutor, and one-half to the use of said medical school of Maine.

Sec. 5. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

Re-Election of Mayor Vickery by 411 Majority.

AUGUSTA, March 14. At the city election to-day Mayor Vickery was re-elected by 411 majority, the biggest Republican majority for many years. There were three opposition tickets in the field. The Republicans carry six out of the seven wards. In Ward three there is no choice for Alderman and a special election will be held to-morrow. The following is the vote: P. O. Vickery, Republican, 963; Harvey Chisham, Democrat, 209; Elisha Atkins, Temperance, 250; A. G. Andrews Greenback, 92.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

An Exciting Election—A Good Republican Majority.

BIDDEFORD, March 14. The Municipal election here to-day was quite exciting. There were three tickets in the field. Republican, Democratic and Citizens. The Republican candidate, Elisha E. Clark, Esq., received a majority over all of 136. The Republicans carry five Wards. In the other two there is no election.

FROM ROCKLAND.

Organization of Municipal Government—The Knox and Lincoln R. R. Bonds.

ROCKLAND, Me., March 14. The municipal government of this city for 1881, was organized to-day and Mayor Case delivered his annual message. He spoke of the heavy liability incurred by the city in loaning its credit to the amount of $755,000 in aid of building the Knox & Lincoln Railroad, the bonds now falling due at the rate of $20,000 per year until 1902, when the whole balance alone is to be paid. He alluded to the general disquietude of the citizens at this rate of interest on the bonds, six per cent., four per cent of which, has to be raised by taxation of the citizens of Rockland, and also to the universal desire that these bonds may be refunded by new ones at 4 per cent. interest, thus saving this city from $15,000 to $18,000 a year. He recommends that a committee of the City Government be appointed with a like number from the citizens at large, to make an exhibit of the property of the city, both real and personal, as to the valuation on a cash basis, together with the liabilities of the city, rate of taxation and all other information necessary and proper for the information of those who hold the bonds issued by the city in aid of the railroad. This committee is to commence its labor as soon as possible, with a view of negotiating with the holders of the bonds by communication or seeing them personally in order that refunding may be brought about at the earliest possible day. The Republicans organized both boards to-day, electing Dr. S. H. Boynton Chairman of the Aldermen and A. D. Bird, President of the Common Council.

FROM PORTLAND.

The literary exercises will take place at the Wesley church on Saturday, consisting of a historical address by Rev. Henry O. Thayer, of Woolwich; an oration by Hon. E. B. Nealley of Bangor; a poem by Frank W. Hawthorne of this city, interspersed with music and closing with the singing of an original hymn.

FROM BELFAST.

An Exciting Debate in the Senate.

MAHONE OF VA. RESENTS THE INSOLENCE OF HILL OF GA.,

In a Spirited and Effective Manner

Scathing Remarks of Mr. Hoar.

WASHINGTON, March 14.

Mr. Allison presented the credentials of J. W. McDill, Senator from Iowa; and Mr. Sawyer those of Angus Cameron, from Wisconsin. Both gentlemen took the oath.

Mr. Pendleton called up his resolution relative to the organization of the Senate committees, and replied to some of the arguments made by the Republicans on Saturday.

A motion was made by Mr. Allison that the Senate go into executive session. It was supported by the Republicans and opposed by the Democrats. Quite a sensation was occasioned by the fact that Mr. Mahone voted with the Republicans. There was slight applause in the galleries, but it was promptly checked. The motion was rejected—yeas 35; nays 37.

The debate continued at considerable length. Mr. Conkling insisted that there should be no organization at present, his remarks indicating that in a short time that would be controlled by the Republicans.

M. Hill followed in rather an excited speech, in which he insisted that the Democrats would continue to control the Senate as no Senator who had been elected by Democratic votes would be faithful to the trust placed in him should he support the Republicans in the Senate.

The debate was interrupted by the presentation of resolutions denouncing the assassination of the Czar and requesting information of the Senate's sympathy with Russia to be officially sent to that Government. The resolutions were tabled.

Mr. Hill repeatedly asked who the Republicans expected to vote with them, and intimated the expected Democratic support must be for some consideration, and by his manner plainly alluded to Mr. Mahone as their expected ally. This information brought Mahone (the new Senator from Virginia) to his feet, and addressing himself directly to Mr. Hill he declared his position as proud a one as that of the Georgia Senator.

He (Mahone) amid marks of encouragement from the Republican side, said: I say I am not here as a partizan, nor am I here to represent that Democracy which has done so much injury to my section of the country. I do not intend (addressing Mr. Hill directly) that you shall undertake to criticise my conduct by innuendoes. I wish the Senator from Georgia to understand just here that the way to deal with me is to deal directly. We want no "motions of discovery" to find out how I am going to vote. (Applause on the floor and in the galleries, which was reprimanded by the Vice-President.) I regret that so early after my appearance here I should have found it necessary to obtrude any remarks on this body. I would prefer to be a little modest. I would prefer to listen and to learn, but I could not feel content, after what has passed to-day, to set silent.

Mr. Mahone continued in very violent terms to denounce Mr. Hill's intimations that he was bound to act with the Democracy and boldly defied any dictation from the Democratic caucus.

From this point the debate became very fierce, Mr. Hill pushing his inquiry as to what course Mr. Mahone would pursue, with great vehemence, and at the end of an impassioned tribute to the statesman of Virginia, living and dead, said he appealed to the Senator to be true to the trust which the people of that State gave him.

Mr. Hoar (Mass.) expressed his emphatic indignation at the degrading exhibition which the Senator from Georgia had made.

It was the first time in the politics of the country when a Senator had undertaken to deliver a lecture to his peer and to inform him that if he did a certain thing it would be degrading and treacherous.

It was none of the business of the Senator from Georgia, how any other Senator should cast his vote. No slave, master or plantation overseer should crack his whip over American Senators. (applause.) The utterances of the Senator from Georgia, were an insult to the Representatives of the American people. That gentleman had been chosen as a Union man to a State convention and had cast a vote which had carried Georgia into rebellion, and from that day to this he had learned nothing either of consistency or constitutional duty, or of propriety of personal behavior. After further debate, in which leading Democratic Senators declared their party would take no mean advantage in the matter of organization, the Senate adjourned, previous to which, however, the resolutions condoling with Russia were adopted.

THE MURDER OF THE CZAR.

Reception of the News in London.

LONDON, March 14. The city was startled to-day by the announcement that the Czar Alexander was mortally wounded by the explosion of a bomb thrown by assassins while he was out driving in the forenoon.

Lord Dufferin, British Embassador at St. Petersburg, informed the Foreign Office of the affair, and his despatches were at once forwarded to the Queen, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburg and other members of the Royal family. The Duchess of Edinburg was at the Duke's seat in Kent with her four children.

Prayers were offered for the Duchess at the afternoon service in the churches and in the evening special reference was made to the murder from the pulpits of the principal churches.

While there was great excitement in court and official circles, there was comparatively little on the streets, the people having long expected as much. Great sympathy is expressed by all classes for the Duchess of Edinburg, who is in a delicate condition.

Special services were held in the Greek churches last night. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburg and the Grand Duke Alexis left London for St. Petersburg at 7 P. M.

The Arrival of the Wounded Emperor at the Palace.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 14. After the arrival of the Czar at the Palace he was carried up the stairs on a litter. Besides the surgeons in ordinary the most skilled men in the city were present, but the case was hopeless. At 1 30 P. M., the Imperial family were summoned to the bedside where prayers for the dying man were being said by the Greek patriarch and clergy.

The Parting with the Imperial Family

The leave taking is said to have been most touching. The Czar kissed them all and gave them his blessing. He bore the agony of his wounds with heroic fortitude and said he trusted he was ready to die, and that Russia would never forget that he had been sacrificed for upholding her institutions and maintaining law and order within her borders.

The Death of the Emperor.

Towards three P. M. it was evident that the end was near, and when the doctors spoke in a whisper of trying amputation the dying man opened his eyes and motioned them away. At 3 30 P. M. he breathed his last.

A CAPITAL SUBSTITUTE.

Once a man searched through what is now the State of Florida to find a fountain he had heard was there, which was able to make an old person young again. He failed. We can't be boys or girls again. Age and infirmity are sure to come, but God did not ordain sickness. That is our fault. There is no Fountain of Youth, but there is a Fountain of Health, and its other name is Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." It comes from Nature—from the fields and flowers, and like them is "very good." Try it for all Complaints of Women, Blood Troubles, and pains and aches everywhere. BURNETT'S COCOAINE FOR LOSS OF HAIR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11, 1880.

Three years ago my hair was coming out very fast, and I was nearly bald. I was also troubled with dandruff. I began using BURNETT'S COCOAINE, and my hair immediately stopped coming out, and has constantly been getting thicker. My head is now entirely free from dandruff. My wife has used the COCOAINE with equally as gratifying results.

THAT'S A FACT.

A man can't work unless he feels well. The hard times have made plenty of people sick simply by worrying them almost out of their wits about money and business. Trouble of mind has brought on trouble of body. There is indigestion, heaviness in the head, and all that. Are you afflicted in this way? Go and invest One Dollar for a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and it will make a new man of you. It takes the bile out of the blood, and is worth a trip to Rondout, N. Y.,—the Doctor's home—on foot, if you can not get it more easily. First, however, see if your druggist hasn't got it. d&w2wmar4

The second reading of the "Courtship of Miles Standish" was given last evening in the vestry of the Hammond street church to a fair audience. The tableaux equalled if not excelled those on a former occasion and were highly pleasing to the audience. Refreshments were served after the exercises closed, and the entertainment was a success throughout.

MEMOIR OF JUDGE WILLIAMSON. We have received from the author an interesting and neatly printed Memoir of William Durkee Williamson, by Joseph Williamson, Esq., of Belfast. Judge Williamson, who died in Bangor in 1846, was a prominent man in this city and section, and the appreciative biographical reminiscences of this pamphlet will be full of interest to many of our citizens.

ASSAULT. At about ten o'clock last night a complaint was entered at the station house that John Nolan was abusing his wife at their home on Broad street. Officer Walker visited the house once, but Nolan made himself scarce when he learned that the police were after him. Later in the evening he returned to the house again and was arrested by Officers Walker and Allen. Nolan has been in the woods this winter and on his arrival home manifested his affection for his wife by giving her a black eye.

LEFT TOWN. Yesterday when the police went after James Murray, who was assaulted by William Cassidy, he had mysteriously disappeared from the city, and of course his absence will defer the trial for the present at least. The fellow was either bought off or frightened out of town by those interested in the case, who realized that Cassidy would fair badly if he came before the court. The police have Murray's trunk containing his clothes in their possession and will retain the property until he calls for it in person, in which event he would be held as a witness.

J. O'Tool; 11, D. J. Herty; 12, William Fish; 13, Patrick McLaughlin; 14, Ed. Plunkett. The start will be at two o'clock prompt. The track was put down last night and will be in good condition. St. John's Band will furnish music at the hall after six o'clock. A strong rail fence will guard the track this time and all can see.

THE ICE. Blasting operations with rend-rock cartridges were begun upon the ice in the Stillwater above the upper dam in Orono, Saturday afternoon, but they were soon abandoned on account of the great cost and unsatisfactory results. The next day workmen commenced with saws and a large field of ice has been cut out and sent adrift; and last night they had made a channel from the upper dam a mile or more towards Upper Stillwater. It was reported last night that the ice was out of the river down as far as Hampden, and the opinion is expressed that it will go out altogether on to-night's tide.

BOATING. The Boston Herald says: There will undoubtedly be one or more regattas at Lake Maranocook, in which the best oarsmen in the country will contend, and either after or before the first regatta in Maine would be a good time to fix a date, as the entries would then be quite numerous. The single-scull shell for John Kennedy's big amateur has been finished by Ruddick. The outriggers are silver-plated, and the rowlocks gold-plated, but that will not improve the "big un's" speed, although it makes the craft look well. Kennedy's new single is also off the stocks. Courtney's proposition to row Plaisted and other scullers has not yet been replied to formally, but Plaisted, who was first mentioned in the list, says he will put up a deposit to bind a match whenever Courtney is ready. Plaisted made a good race with Courtney and Riley during the two miles of their race at Saratoga, Aug. 14, 1878, having led both of them during the first mile and a half.

HEAVY STORM. Reports show that the recent storm was experienced in all parts of the Provinces. A Miramichi lumber operator when questioned upon the effect the storm would have in the locality said a forty days flood would not hinder the work there to any extent, owing to the deep snow in the woods. On the Upper St. John this week and last week there have been heavy rains; the lowlands were flooded and for a time all work was at a stand still. Up to this time all the lumbermen on the Aroostook and further up the river have had a good season for operations. Robert Connors and the other operators there will continue to cut as long as they can or until about driving time. The amount of snow along the Upper St. John will prevent the occurring of the rapid falling of water in the streams as was the case last year. The New Brunswick Railway between Aroostook Junction and Edmundston has been reopened, the heavy thaw greatly assisting the work.

AMUSEMENTS.

"All the Rage."

The above popular play was presented in this city last evening for the second time before a very large audience. On the occasion of its first presentation we mentioned the leading features of the play and it is not necessary to review them here. Some changes have been made in the cast since the last visit of the company which to our mind have not strengthened it any. The old favorites Messrs. Hardenburgh and Davidge still sustain the leading characters in their own inimitable manner, and kept the audience in a roar of laughter throughout the entire evening. "All the Rage" is one of the funniest pieces on the stage and fully merits the large audiences that greet the company whenever they appear.

Prof. Churchill.

This evening our citizens will have the pleasure of listening to the renowned reader, Prof. J. W. Churchill, at Music Hall. The advanced sale of tickets indicates a large audience.

American Gems.

At the late inaugural ball at Washington, the famous parure of American gems was worn by one of the members of the Hamlin family of Maine, to whom it belongs, and by whom it has been constructed from collections of the past sixty years. Previously to the ball it was examined by a number of the naturalists of Washington, one of whom has kindly furnished a brief description of the charming jewels. It has been intimated that they may eventually become the property of the nation, and be deposited at the Smithsonian Institute, as the proper receptacle for them. This rare collection of our native productions should certainly be preserved entire, as it is represented to be far superior to the casket of Scottish gems presented by the loyal Scots to Queen Caroline many years ago.

The parure consists of a bandeau, ear drops, brooch and necklace. The bandeau is composed of a line of beryls from Massachusetts, upon which are placed in separate points red, white and green tourmalines from Maine, a yellow emerald from Massachusetts, and garnets and other gems from the West. The ear drops are composed of red and green tourmalines set with white aquamarines from Maine and Massachusetts. The brooch is arranged in the form of a large cross, and contains twenty gems, tourmalines, sapphires and beryls, of fine colors, from Maine, Montana and Massachusetts. The necklace is composed of twenty-five links of gold, each link containing a beryl from Massachusetts, and from which is suspended a pendant formed of fine gems. Some of these pendants contain stones of extraordinary beauty, and, in fact, they exhibit most of the finest stones found in the United States during the last half century, excepting the big diamond found in Virginia, which was purchased by John Morrissey, the prize fighter. The central stone is a magnificent green tourmaline from Maine, weighing twenty-eight karats, and is without a flaw. This gem is surrounded with pearls from the fresh water clams of New England brooks. On either side of the tourmaline are two matchless opals of more than an inch in diameter, without imperfection, and exhibiting wondrous display of prismatic colors. "Oberon" and "Titania" are the names given them, from "Midsummer Nights Dream," and certainly nothing on earth gives more entrancing glimpses of fairy-land than these perfect gems. Montana is well represented with beautiful garnets and sapphires of red, white and blue colors. New Mexico contributes, besides the garnets of blood-red hue, a superb turquoise more than an inch in length. It is a gem that would have gladdened the hearts of Cortez and his followers when they despoiled the Mexicans of their fine emeralds, turquoise and other varieties. The display of native tourmalines is quite extraordinary, and comprises fine stones of green, red, white, blue and yellow colors. The necklace contains over 150 gems, which form altogether a jewel of remarkable beauty, and is, in fact, a museum in itself of the rarest and most beautiful of our gem productions.—Boston Advertiser.

THE UNION LEAGUE'S NEW CLUB HOUSE.

The Union League Club of New York took possession of their new house on Fifth avenue and Thirty-ninth street on Saturday morning last. This successful and influential organization is to be congratulated on the acquisition of a home according well with the taste and social position of the members. That the house in its appointments and decorations is truly magnificent, is beyond a question, but some criticism will be provoked when the details are considered. The kitchens are at the top of the house, and the dining-room occupies two full stories in height, the adornment of which was in charge of Lafarge. The library, reception, reading and retiring rooms are all finished in the highest art. The grand hall has a large window wherein Louis Tiffany has shown what brilliant effects may be produced by stained glass. Herter and Frank Hill Smith have each had charge of special rooms, and have been allowed the fullest play for their artistic fancies.

Messrs. Gorham made the silver service of over eight hundred pieces, and all the China ware, furniture and fittings have been specially made. The chandeliers, all of brass, excite the wonder as well as commendation of all. The architects, Peabody & Sterns, of Boston, have very successfully overcome the many difficulties which are presented in such an undertaking. The entire cost of the building and furnishings will reach the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, the building alone having cost about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

THE POPULAR DEMAND.

So great has been the popular demand for the celebrated remedy Kidney-Wort, that it is having an immense sale from Maine to California. Some have found it inconvenient to prepare it from the dry compound. For such the proprietors now prepare it in liquid form. This can be procured at the druggists. It has precisely the same effect as the dry, but is very concentrated so that the dose is much smaller.—Lowell Mail. d&w1w mar12
